If there's one thing the Japanese get right, it's how to accurately portray the demise of the human race as an unholy war between mecha warriors and robotic humanoids. Teyon, one of the most prolific developers on the 3DS eShop, brings that all together with the aptly named Iron Combat: War in the Air.

The game's titles leave very little to the imagination: you and your iron suit are drenched in combat style warfare...in the sky. It's a war between you and the mechanical warmongers, ships, and cyborgs that inhabit the same land or exist somewhere around you. The game arrives on the 3DS eShop for $6.99 on March 19. Be sure to check out the trailer above for a taste of what you may be experiencing.
